

2022-2023 Instructional Calendars Review

Glenn Carrozza, Assistant Superintendent for School Choice, Planning and Assignment

Tamani Anderson Powell, Director, Office of Magnet and Curriculum Enhancement Programs

Why are we here today?

Based on feedback from the WCPSS Board of Education, families, staff and the community, staff is here to review the instructional calendars for the 2022-2023 school year.

Depending on the election year, approximately 75-80 of WCPSS schools are used as polling sites. (Approximately 40%)

Under G.S. 163-129, county board of elections is “entitled to demand” the use of any “school” or “part thereof” that is supported or maintained, in whole or part, by tax revenues for voting on election day.

Current practice

Currently, it is the practice of the calendar committees to assign a Teacher Work Day on Election Day when it is a national election.

- The committees do consider a Teacher Work Day on Election Day for other years, and will do so if possible.

For the 2022-23 instructional calendars, since it was not a national election, there is not a Teacher Work Day on Election Day.

- use a banked day (currently have three (3) reserved)

This would be the staff recommendation for the Board if asked to move forward with making a change for the 2022-2023 school year.

Options for November 8, 2022

- Items to consider for OPTION 3: Create a calendar-out/track-out day on November 8th
- a. Will not impact LETRS Training schedule
 - b. The week of November 7th will result in the following:
 - i. Monday- school, Tuesday- no school, Wednesday- school, Thursday- early release, Friday- no school
 - c. Adding an additional calendar-out/track-out date will impact families (least intrusive of all options)
 - d. Having only two (2) banked days will limit our “cushion” for unexpected weather or other reasons

Option for June 19, 2023

Staff has also received feedback regarding the Juneteenth Holiday. This consideration would only have an impact on the Multi-Track Year-Round School instructional calendar.

For Multi-Track Year-Round Only:

- move the Teacher Work Day from June 30th to June 19th (will not impact LETRS Training)
- schools would no longer have the final day before “clopening” as a Teacher Work Day

Discussion/Next Steps

Staff is available to answer any questions you may have.

We plan to bring any changes to the Board during the August 2, 2022 Board Meeting for approval.
